1. Save the return address

2. Push the stack frame register

3. Create the stack frame of the function

4. Push the arguments and local variables in the stack

5. Function execution

6. Release the arguments and local variables

7. Restore the stack frame pointer

8. Return